Introductory

The genealogy of the Tanner family by reason of its preparation and size may be divided into three parts. The first is the most ancient records we have of the Tanner family and has already been prepared by Reverend George C. Tanner, D.D., of Fairbault, Minnesota. His book is a marvelous work of pains-taking care and devotion. The second part is the first division of the genealogy of John Tanner, born July 2, 1810, in Greenwich, New York. Most of his descendants are found in the West, John Tanner having joined the Mormon Church in September, 1832. The third part is the second division of the genealogy of John Tanner's posterity. It will remain for future preparation. The present volume includes 2,562 names and it is estimated that when completed his descendants will number something like 3,500.

The Mormon Church has been noted for the numerous posterity of its early scions. No one compares in number of his posterity with John Tanner who arrived in Utah in 1848 and died in 1850.

The Reverend George C. Tanner has given us a brief statement of the manner in which the data for his book was collected. Following his explanation there is included brief excerpts from his book. These excerpts connect the earliest family record with John Tanner.

The responsibility for the large undertaking in writing the genealogy of John Tanner is due to his great grandson Maurice Tanner, whose pains-taking care and persistent determination has brought the present Genealogy to its completion. The Genealogy has been years in the course of preparation. Replies to letters of inquiry have not always been ungrudgingly given, and but for the love and pride for his ancestors by the author of this book, its completion might have been postponed for many years.

Maurice Tanner has repeatedly expressed his acknowledgments to Apostle Francis M. Lyman for the latter's accumulation of data respecting the descendants of John Tanner. Much of this data has been collected during visits that President F. M. Lyman made across the continent. At a meeting of the Tanner association an executive committee consisting of J. M. Tanner, Rollin R. Tanner and Nathan A. Tanner was chosen. Maurice Tanner was chosen president of the association, Earl Pingree Tanner its genealogist and Nathaniel H. Tanner its secretary and treasurer. Some names of the descendants of John Tanner the president was unable to secure and all the branches of the family could not be included in this volume without great extra work. It was quite impossible to obtain them as this volume goes to press. A volume of considerable size will be made from the names already collected. The names of the remaining descendants may at a future time be obtained when the association appoints someone for the duty of completing the work of the Genealogy of John Tanner.

The Rev. Geo. C. Tanner, Faribault, Minnesota. Author of the Tanner Genealogy leading up to John Tanner.

LETTER OF GEORGE C. TANNER

In 1893, the Reverend Elias F. Tanner, A.B., of Grand Ledge, Michigan, published the Genealogy of Thomas Tanner, Jr. He tells us that about three years before, he began collecting information concerning his ancestry on his father's or the Tanner side. It was during this period that I received a communication from him asking for the record of my own line, to ascertain if there were any immediate connection between the families. He had also written to other members of my family, and thus had collected a considerable mass of material and information, which, being of no practical use to him in the work he was doing, excepting as it made it unnecessary for him to pursue that branch of the family tree any further, he most kindly presented to me.

The motto of his book is "The Fathers, Where Are They?" The title was a suggestive one, and it very naturally appeals to every one who has a pride in his ancestry. My grandfather who was born in 1770, was an only son. As he had five sons, with all of whom I was personally acquainted, my knowledge of the Tanner family was restricted to the families of my four uncles and three aunts. The descendants of my great grandfather's two brothers had all gone up country, is the phrase of my boyhood, or as we say, "gone west," in the wave of emigration soon after the war of the Revolution, and we had lost all trace of them in the lapse of time. The movement indeed, began even earlier, as early as 1769. As my grandfather's grandfather had settled in West Greenwich, R. I., as early as 1735, it was easy to go to the town records, where town records were kept, and they were at first religiously kept after the old English custom, and get such records, and trace out the old wills and deeds. But this did not often give me the connection between those who had removed and those who remained behind, unless, as sometimes happened, one who had removed to another town in a distant state sent back a power of attorney for the sale of land in his native town, which thus became a matter of record and an indication of the residence of other members of the family.

In New England the town is the unit. in the states west of New England, the unit is the county. The latter simplifies the work of the genealogists. Rhode Island, the original home of the Tanners in the North, being a small state with five counties, and having exact knowledge of the original town where William Tanner the immigrant settled, about 1680, and that state being my native home, my work was made more simple. I knew every town and could cross the state in half a day. Mr. Arnold, the historian of Rohde Island, had done a great work for the state. There is a printed list of the births, marriages and deaths, and the church membership of every town in the state. This was a great help for the earlier families.

Genealogy printing is a faculty, it requires a keenness of mind, as it were to trace out step by step in our changing population a family line. I have followed the Tanners from the Atlantic to the Pacific. In some instances there has been a romance about results that thrills one with the unexpected. I cannot go into this at length. I have visited many town records, historical societies, and have examined several hundred other genealogies to find intermarried Tanners. I have examined genealogical registers and every available means of information during the fifteen years or so in which I have been engaged in this work. The work is not perfect, occasionally information is received of value and incorporated in my private copy, I am now too far advanced in years to publish a second edition. Such as it is, the result is a contribution to genealogical history, and has been a labor of love, a record of a family truly democratic in its sympathies, content to do their duty in that state of life in which their lot has fallen.

I may here add as a result of my later study, that I would think that William Tanner, Senior, came to Rhode Island about 1678, when he was not far from twenty-one years of age, that he came over as an attendant of Mr. Francis Houlding who at that time went to England on Colonial business. In his History of New England matters, Mr. Fisk says that the early settlers of New England came largely from the East of England, and the name of William Tanner in Great Coggerhall in the East of England, seems to agree in date with the subject of our genealogy.

There is much to favor this opinion, though nothing that is of record beyond the fact given. We are certain from character, etc., that the Tanners were of what we may call the great middle class of England, of good intellect and high ideals, devoted there, as always here, to their country in peace as in war, as indicated by the "coat of arms" against the Saracens, or Turks "Three Moors."

HISTORY AND GENEALOGY OF THE TANNER FAMIL!! FROM WILLIAM TANNER TO JOHN TANNER

The name Tanner appears in history as early as the reign of Edward the III, and it is said dates from the time of William the Conqueror. They had estates in the Counties of Cornwall, Devon, Wilts, Surrey, and the name is found in other parts of England. The Will of Governor Haynes of Connecticut speaks of a William Tanner of Cophall, England. One was the founder of a school, and another Thomas Tanner, writer and Archaeologist, was bishop of St. David's of Wales. The name is clearly of English origin, though found in Wales, Ireland, and even in Switzerland, and among our Scandinavian cousins.

It would take considerable time and research to be able to connect the immigrant William Tanner with his English ancestors. The Reverend George C. Tanner of Fairbault, Minnesota, whom the writer is indebted to for valuable information tells of a tradition that gives us to believe that they came from west of England. The exact date of their coming is equally uncertain. Another tradition says that Wiliam Tanner was born in London, England, about 1660, and when about fourteen years of age was taken aboard an English sailing vessel which landed in New York. He escaped from these people and settled in Rhode Island.

William Tanner married three times. The third wife being Eliz-They were blessed with six children, Francis born abeth Cottrell. July 3, 1708, at South Kingston, R. I. He was a patriot and a true friend of his country, and while too advanced in years for active service in the field, his man Quam served as a private for the greater part of the war. Francis Tanner passed away in the

This branch of the Tanners is noted for its sterling qualities from Francis Tanner of Hopkinton, whose record is in Colonial History down through William and his son Wiliam B., to the present. "Just and honest in their dealings, true to the principles of Free Masonry, loyal to his chosen church", such is the tribute paid to Samuel N. Tanner in the fourth generation from one whom his citizens delighted to honor in Colonial days.

BIOGRAPHY OF JOHN TANNER

The common ancestor of the thousands of descendants that inhabit Utah, Idaho, and Arizona was John Tanner, son of Joshua and Thankful Tanner. He was born August 15, 1778, in the state of Rhode Island. At the age of thirteen years, he moved with his parents to Greenwich, Washington county, New York, where his father, who had been a farmer, died. John took up the business of his father, settled his father's estate and early in the year 1800, John married Tabitha Bentley by whom he had one son Elisha, born March 23, 1801. The mother died on the 9th of April of the same year. Subsequently, John Tanner married Lydia Stewart by whom he had twelve children, nine sons and three daughters.

One evening in the year 1808, when he returned from his work, he found that two of his children had been bitten by his dog which had gone mad and he in his attempt to confine his dog was also bitten on the calf of the leg. Realizing immediately that he had no time to lose, he grasped a pair of sheep shears and cut out the affected parts and filled the wound with salt. He thus succeded in saving his own life and was also successful in saving the lives of his children.

In the spring of 1818, John Tanner moved with his large family to North West Bay, where a son and daughter were born. In 1823, he moved to the town of Bolton where in 1825, another son was born. In May of that year his wife Lydia Stewart died. He then married a third wife, Elizabeth Besswick, by whom he had six sons and two daughters. At this time at Bolton, notwithstanding his large family responsibilities, he had acquired wealth and had become a man of much influence and was extensively known and universally respected. His name was synonymous with benevolence, honesty and integrity.

In the mysterious dispensations of Providence, a terrible calamity overtook him in the form of a painful disease, which, according to the most consummate skill was incurable, indeed its character was unknown by the medical fraternity. His left leg from the thigh down was covered with black sores through which the muscles of the limb having formed into hollow pipes or tubes projected outward to the surface. From these tubes matter was continuously oozing.

He employed seven of the most eminent physicians in the country but all their efforts were unavailing. The last one, Dr. Black, frankly told John Tanner that he could run up a bill for additional medical attendance, but, said he, "You are beyond the reach of medicine, and I can do you no good."

For six months Mr. Tanner had neither let his diseased limb hang down nor his foot touch the floor. He was obliged to keep his leg at a right angle with his body and resting it on pillows placed on some object directly in front of him. Yet with all his bodily suffering his mind was active. Feeling he must soon die, Mr. Tanner sought opportunity for doing good. He had a vehicle so constructed that he could move himself from place to place without other assistance.

Early in September, 1832, notice was circulated in the community where he lived that two Latter-day Saint elders would preach on a certain evening at a specified place not far from Mr. Tanner's residence. The anoucement, he hailed with delight. It afforded him an opportunity, he thought, of doing much good. He was conversant with the Bible and felt himself amply qualified to discuss such heresy as he thought the Latter-day Saints were propounding in their efforts to spread Mormonism. Mr. Tanner also believed that he would confer a benefit upon his fellow men by showing up the falacies of the Mormon elders. When the hour for meeting arived, he took his place in his wheel chair directly in front of the elders whom he sincerely believed were imposters. The elders to whom he listened were Simeon and Jared Carter. Long before their discourses were ended a wonderful change came over the mind of Mr. Tanner, and when they closed the evening services he invited them to his home. That evening a new light was shed on his conceptions of religious life and teachings. These men stopping at the home of Mr. Tanner engaged with him in conversation until the hour of eleven o'clock. He told the missionaries he was then ready to be baptized but that he would not be able to receive the ordinance. They asked, "Why not?" He replied, "On account of my lameness." He explained that he had not put his foot to the floor in the past six months and could not possibly do so.

Thereupon one of the elders wanted to know if he did not think there was power enough in the gospel of Jesus Christ anciently to heal all manner of diseases to which he replied in the affirmative. The elder then wanted to know if Mr. Tanner did not think that the same cause produced the same effect in all ages and if there were not power enough in the gospel to heal him. To these suggestions Mr. Tanner replied that such a thought had not occurred to him but he believed the Lord could heal him. Whereupon, Elder Jared Carter then arose and commanded John Tanner in the name of Jesus Christ to arise and walk. "I arose, threw down my crutches, walked the floor back and forth, praised God, and felt as light as a feather" was the explanation of the event which Mr. Tanner gave of this marvelous power. That night he walked three-quarters of a mile to Lake George and was baptized by Simeon Carter. Walking back he gave thanks to God for his complete restoration to health.

As soon as the Word of Wisdom was made known to him, he quit the use of tobacco, tea, coffee and liquor and never touched them again throughout the remainder of his life.

In the spring of 1834, Mr. Tanner fitted out his two sons, John J. and Nathan, and sent them up to Kirtland, where they joined Zion's Camp and went to Missouri with their team and wagon and a first class outfit. A little later John Tanner fitted out seven families and sent them, some to Kirtland and some to Missouri.

In the fall of the same year, he sold his two large farms and twenty-two hundred acres of timber land preparatory to moving to Missouri the coming spring. About the middle of December, he received an impression by dream or vision of the night, that he was needed and must go immediately to the Church in the West. He told his family of instructions he had received and forthwith made preparations for the journey. While his neighbors regarded what they considered an insane purpose on his part they did their utmost to dissuade him, but he knew the will of God in the present crisis and nothing could deter him from what he considered his duty. On Christmas day he commenced his journey, a distance of 500 miles, with all his earthly effects and in the dead of winter, he reached Kirtland about the 20th day of January, 1835. On his arrival there, he learned that at the time he received the impression that he must move immediately to the body of the Church, the Prophet Joseph Smith and some of the other brethren met in prayer meeting and asked the Lord to send them a brother or some brethren with means to assist them in lifting the mortgage on the farm upon which the temple was then building. On the second day of his arrival in Kirtland, by invitation of the Prophet, John Tanner and his son Sidney met with the High Council, when he was informed that the mortgage on the temple block was about to be foreclosed. Thereupon, he loaned the Prophet $2,000.00, and took the Prophet's note at interest. With this amount, the block or farm was redeemed. Mr. Tanner also loaned to the Temple Committee, Hyrum Smith, Reynolds Cahoon and Jared Carter, $13,000.00 in merchandise at the cost price in New York, and took their note for the merchandise. This amount and that loaned the Prophet we're not included in his liberal donations to the building of the temple. He also signed a note with the Prophet Joseph Smith and others for $30,000 of goods, in which he had no pecuniary interest purchased in New York. His openheartedness was a very striking proof of his confidence in the Prophet and in the validity and importance of the work he had embraced.

When the temple was finished, he participated in the dedication, took part in the "Solemn Assembly," and the glorious gifts and manifestations of that memorable occasion. In this first temple builded in this dispensation, John Tanner received his temple anointings.

With his characteristic energy, he put forth his best efforts to assist the Prophet in sustaining the Kirtland Bank and received much of this bank's paper but there was a Judas under the counter and the bank went down in spite of all their efforts. Those who had struggled hardest and invested most were naturally the greatest losers and Mr. Tanner was one of the foremost. He was now competely crippled financially. About this time outside pressure in the form of religious persecution became so unendurable that the Saints had to leave Kirtland and seek homes in the West. John Tanner, who had now become an elder in the Church, set out on a journey of 1,000 miles to Far West. He found himself not only destitute of means but also in debt; yet his courage and ability were equal to the emergency. Through the blessings of God he acquired one large fortune and he knew that God lived and that he was His servant.

Elder Tanner had a large family depending upon him and the long journey was before him. In April, 1838, his equippage for the journey consisted of a turnpike cart, a borrowed wagon, one horse of his two, three borrowed ones, twenty dollars in cash and a keg of powder. With this meager equipment, he started with his family eleven children n all, for Missouri. When the money and powder were gone, his family was under the necessity of appealing to the benevolence of inhabitants along the road for buttermilk and some other food to sustain life. He had two chidren, a son and a daughter, born to him in Kirtland. One of these, the daughter, died on this tedious journey. On his arrival in Missouri, he narrated, in conversation with a friend, his hardships and privations. In conclusion, he philosophically said, "Well, if others have come up easier, they have not learned so much." This expression was charcateristic of Elder Tanner's resignation to his sacrifces. He had a happy faculty of acknowledging the hand of God in all things,

He arrived in Far West on the 3rd day of July, and there his sons went to work. He paid up his debts and had sufficient means on hand to meet the demands of the exigencies of life.

In the autumn of 1838, he and his son Myron went to a mill about nine miles from the town and when started for home the State militia, an organized mob, came upon them. The father told his boy Myron to run and take care of himself, which the boy did by crawling under a large pile of clearing brush. Here he was not discovered by the mob, which, however, came upon Elder Tanner and one of them snapped his gun at the fearless man and it refused to go off. He then took hold of the muzzle and struck Elder Tanner over the head with the breech of the gun, cutting a large, ugly gash. This blow would probably have killed him had it not been for his heavy felt hat, the double thickness of which saved his life. This attempt at murder was made by Captain Myer Odell.

Elder Tanner was taken prisoner and held for two or three days. He wore his bloody clothes and he refused to wash the blood from himself. He was allowed to keep his team and wagon. The mob allowed him to go on his word of honor to take a wounded man to his family. He returned to the custody of the mob and redeemed his word.

At this time the Prophet Joseph Smith was sentenced to be shot, but General Doniphan protested and withdrew his men. On the day when the execution was to take place, the Saints laid down their arms and some of the prisoners, among whom was Elder Tanner, were released.

During this raid by the mob, Elder Tanner lost heavily as quite a number of his stock were stolen. As soon as he was set at liberty, he began preparations to get his things together and to leave the State in obedience to the gubernatorial order on the 3rd of March, 1839, he started with his family and his sons' families for Illinois. He arrived in New Liberty about the first of April. Here he stopped for one year to recruit and during that time was much prospered in his efforts. About the middle of March, 1840, he again gathered his effects and moved within four miles of Montrose, Iowa, where his daughter Sariah was born July, 1840. Here he opened a large farm, plowed 250 acres and used about 200 acres for pasture. He enclosed this new farm by a good fence and continued to live there for six years. Here he was greatly prospered.

At the April conference in 1844, he was called on a mission to the Eastern States, before starting, he went to Nauvoo where he saw the Prophet Joseph. Meeting him on the street, Elder Tanner gave the Prophet Joseph his note of hand for the $2,000 loaned him in Kirtland in January, 1835, for the purpose of redeeming the temple land. The Prophet asked him what he wanted done with the note, Elder Tanner replied, "Brother Joseph, you are welcome to it." The Prophet then laid his hands heavily on Elder Tanner's shoulders, saying, "God bless you Father Tanner, your children shall never beg for bread." Elder Tanner further aided in the building of the Nauvoo temple and received his second anointings there.

In the spring of 1846, John Tanner sold his farm at a nominal price and set out upon his journey with the Saints to the Rocky Mountains. He thus left Nauvoo, the "City of Joseph," and started about the middle of May so as to join the westward bound stream of Latterday Saints in their memorable exodus from Illinois. He also paid the expenses for the removal of two families besides his own, to Council Bluffs.

On the 16th of July, he fitted out two of his sons, Albert and Myron, and sent them with the Mormon Battalion into Mexico to fight the battle of our country. On the herd grounds of the Saints at a point northwest of Winter Quarters, he herded the stock for the whole camp of Israel for three months.

In addition to the trials of his journeys and his losses and hardships in various forms, he was also tried by fire. About the middle of January, 1847, his house and three wagons with covers, used for sleeping rooms, supplies of provisions and groceries, and most of the family wearing apparel were destroyed by fire, nothing was saved but a portion of his bedding. His noble mind and persevering energies showed themselves superior to these misfortunes. In the spring he assisted in fitting out the pioneers to the Rocky Mountains. He also opened up another farm and raised a good crop.

In the summer of 1848, Elder Tanner had a thrilling adventure with Indians. The following account of this marvelous circumstance is from the journal of Jane Grover, afterwards Sister Stewart. She writes:

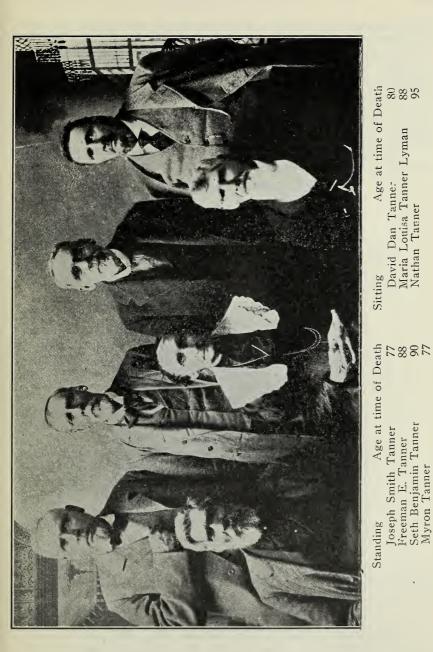

"One morning we thought we would go and gather gooseberries. Father Tanner (as we familiarly called the good, patriarchal John Tanner) harnessed a span of horses to a light wagon and with two sisters by the name of Lyman, his little granddaughter and me, started out. When we reached the woods we told the old gentleman to go to a house which was in sight and rest while we picked the berries. It was not long before the little girl and I strayed some distance from the others, when we suddenly heard shouts. The little girl thought it was her grandfather, and she was going to answer, but I prevented her, thinking it might be Indians. We walked until within sight of Father Tanner, when we saw he was running his team around. We thought nothing strange at first, but as we approached we saw Indians gathering around the wagon, whooping and yelling as others came and joined them. We got into the wagon to start, when four of the Indians took hold of the wagon, and two others held the horses by the bits, and another came to take me out of the wagon. I then began to be afraid as well as vexed, and asked Father Tanner to let me get out of the wagon and run for assistance. He said, 'No poor child, it is too I told him they should not take me alive. Father Tanner's face was white as a sheet. The Indians commenced to strip him. They had taken his watch and handkerchief, and while stripping him, were trying to pull me out of the wagon. I began silently praying to my Heavenly Father. While praying and struggling, the Spirit of the Almighty fell upon me and I spoke with great power, and no tongue can tell my feelings. I was as happy as could be. A few moments before, I saw worse than death staring me in the face, and now my hand was raised by the power of God, and I talked with those Indians in their own language. They let go the horses and wagon, and stood in front of me while I talked to them of the power of God. bowed their heads and answered yes in a way that made me know what they meant. Father Tanner and the little girl looked on in amazement. I realized our situation. Their calculation was to kill Father Tanner, burn the wagon, and take us women prisoners. This was plainly shown to me. When I stopped talking, they shook hands with all of us and returned all they had taken from Father Tanner, who gave them back the handkerchief, and I gave them berries and crackers. By this time the other women came up and we hastened home.

"The Lord gave me a portion of the interpretation of what I said which is as follows: 'I suppose you Indian warriors think you are going to kill us. Don't you know that the Great Spirit is watching you, and knows everything in your hearts? We have come out here to gather some of our Father's fruit. We have not come to injure you; and if you harm us, or injure one hair of our heads, the Great Spirit will smite you to the earth, and you will not have power to breathe another breath. We have been driven from our homes and so have you. We have come out here to do you good and not to injure you. We are the Lord's people and so are you, but you must cease your murders and wickedness. The Lord is displeased with it and will not prosper you if you continue it. You think you own all this land, this timber, this water and all these horses. You do not own one thing on earth, not even the air you breathe. It all belongs to the Great Spirit.' "

In the latter part of June, 1848, Elder Tanner fitted up five teams and wagons, and with 18 months' provisions started for Salt Lake, celebrating the 4th of July on the Elk Horn between Wood river and Laramie. A six year old grandson fell from the tongue of a wagon loaded with about 3,500 pounds, both wheels of the wagon passed obliquely over his bowels and he died in twenty minutes. With the exception of this sad accident, the journey was prosperous and he arrived in Salt Lake Valley on the 13th of October, 1848, and located in South Cottonwood.

In the autumn of 1849, he was afflicted with rheumatism which continued to increase until the first of January, 1850, when he was confined to his bed from this sickness. He suffered severely until the 13th day of April, when he died "The Death of the Righteous." He was the father of twenty-one children and has left a reputation worthy of imitation by his numerous posterity and by the youth of Zion.

This sketch was written by Nathan Tanner, Jr., son of Nathan Tanner who was the son of John Tanner, the subject of this sketch.

SIDNEY TANNER
Born April 1, 1809; Died Dec. 5, 1895

SIDNEY TANNER was the son of John Tanner and Lydia Stewart Tanner. He was born April 1, 1809, and died December 5, 1895, at the age of eighty-six years. Like most of his brothers and sisters, he was born at Bolton, New York, near Lake George. He was a man of affairs and learned to do well those tasks that belonged to pioneer life. In his early experiences in Utah, he became proficient as a farmer and engaged to some extent in handling timber. The story of his life from the time he left Kirtland with his father until his settlement in Utah is uniform with that of his family. After he came to Utah in 1848 with Amasa Lyman, he joined Apostles Lyman and Rich in the mission to San Bernardino. On his return from California in 1858, he settled in Beaver. For twenty-four years he was a wanderer in the wilderness and his travels covered the road from New York to Southern California. He was prominently identified in the building up of the town of Beaver, its woolen mills and its lumber mills. Like his other brothers, he became an expert in handling sheep, cattle and horses and an extensive owner in them. He was also counselor to Bishop Shepherd at the time of the organization of the first ward of that town. Later he became high councilman and patriarch. He was singularly free from all kinds of vices.

NATHAN TANNER, SENIOR, was the son of John Tanner by his second wife, Lydia Stewart Tanner. He was born in Greenwich, Washington county, New York, May 14, 1815. The early life of Nathan, as a boy, was very closely associated with that of his father who imposed upon his son a variety of responsibilities. He was among the first to receive the gospel in this dispensation. At the time of his death, he was perhaps the oldest Church member, having lived eighty years from the time he was baptized. At one time he was the only member living of Zion's Camp. He traveled with the Prophet and assisted Zeruabel Snow of the Commissary Department. He was with the Prophet on one occasion when the latter was wrapt in vision, and saw in vision the future of the country over which they were traveling. When a boy, he filled a mission with his brother-in-law Amasa Lyman in the Eastern States. At the old home in Bolton, he married Rachel Winter Smith in 1836.

He suffered from mob violence that tried so severely the Saints both in Kirtland and in Missouri. After occupying a prominent position among those who were driven to Nauvoo, he was chosen by the Prophet Joseph as one of the explorers to accompany him to the Rocky Mountains. With his brother John and Loyal Souls, he was among those awaiting the Prophet on the night of June 22, 1844, when they crossed the Mississippi river preparatory to proceeding westward. Joseph and Hyrum returned to Nauvoo and their martydom followed.

He lived in Adams county, Illinois, for about one year, then moved to Montrose opposite Nauvoo until the exodus.

In 1848, Nathan moved south of Salt Lake City about ten miles on what was then known as the Lyman survey.

He was one of the first to bring water from the Little Cottonwood stream for irrigation purposes.

In the fall of 1849, he was called on a mission to explore southern Utah, with Parley P. Pratt and others.

In 1852, Nathan started out on a mission to the Sandwich Islands. He went south to San Bernardino, thence north to San Francisco, and from here he set sail with a number of elders that were on their way to India.

At his funeral, held in the Granite Stake Tabernacle, President Joseph F. Smith, who was the chief speaker, said that his fidelity to the Prophet Joseph Smith would alone assure him of a place among the worthy in the celestial kingdom.

He died in December, 1910, at the home of his son Stewart in Granger. He was a few months under ninetysix years of age at the time of his death.

MARIA LOUISA TANNER LYMAN, daughter of John Tanner and Lydia Stewart Tanner, was born November 28, 1818, at Greenwich, New York. She was married to Amasa M. Lyman. He was afterwards mustered out of service. He went to San Bernardino, where he engaged in farming and team work.

In 1849, Albert was drawn by the gold excitement to the Sacramento and Feather rivers. He was engaged in the mines and teaming on Mormon Island until late in 1850. Thereafter, he returned to San Bernardino where he resumed his farming and stock raising.

MYRON TANNER was born June 7, 1826, at Bolton, near Lake George, in Warren county, New York. In 1835, he moved with his father's family to Kirtland, where he received his first schooling in the little red schoolhouse between his home and the temple. The little red schoolhouse gave what little education many of the children of the Saints had at that time. At the time of the heavenly manifestations at the dedication of the Kirtland temple, Myron called his mother to behold the heavenly personages he saw.

At Hurricane Point, while in the Mormon Battalion, he took chills and fever and on the Simeron Cut-off, enroute to Sante Fe, he gave out. At Simeron he took the mumps. When the Battalion reached Santa Fe the condition of his health required that he be sent to Arkansas near the present site of Pueblo for the winter of 1846 and '47. It was while here that he nearly lost his life from scurvy.

In the spring of 1847, with others he followed the pioneers and reached Salt Lake Valley on the 27th of July, 1847. When they reached the mouth of Emigration canyon, they marched with flag unfurled and drums beating.

That year in the month of August, Myron was sent back to the Missouri river. The company's flour gave out at the junction of the Sweet Water and the Platte. The men of the company lived on elk meat for eight days and then ate buffalo until they came to Pawne, about one hundred miles west of the Missouri river where the men were able to obtain flour.

In 1849, after working on a farm and on a river boat, he took charge of George A. Smith's ten wagons going to Salt Lake City. His work for George A. Smith was continued for some time and there grew up between the young man and President George A. Smith an intimate friendship. Myron was wont to remark that the wisdom of George A. Smith had been of great value to him through life.

After the death of John Tanner in March, 1850, Myron went to California where he worked in the gold mines for two and one half years. Here he saved $1,250.00, a considerable capital in those days with which he set out in stock raising, farming and trading.

On one occasion, a neighbor, Mr. Hales, was warned in a dream of Myron's drowning, and the following day ran a mile and a quarter, getting there just in time to save the boy's life.

In June, 1838, he moved with his father's family to Far West, Missouri. At Far West his experiences were very trying, owing to the absence of food and the persecutions by the state militia. With his father, he left Far West and in March, 1839, the family rented a little farm near Quincy, Illinois. On this journey from Far West, the boy suffered from want of food and clothing and was obliged to make the journey bare-footed. In 1840, the family moved to Montrose, Iowa, and took up land. In four years they had fenced 600 acres and put fifty acres into meadow, the rest being used for pasture. From the fact that many of the boys were scattered about the country where there were working for wages, Myron who remained with his father

He had much of the responsibility of moving the Saints across the Mississippi river at the time of their exodus from Nauvoo. With his family he moved across Iowa to Council Bluffs in July, 1846. He joined the Mormon Battalion and left for Leavenworth. The fact over which the Mormon boys of the Battalion felt proud was that they were able, all of them, to sign their names while two out of every three of the Missourians had to sign their names by means of a cross.

In 1855, he returned to Salt Lake City, where he married Jane Mount, May 26, 1856. From Salt Lake City, he moved to Payson. in 1858, he took part in the "Move South" when Johnston's Army came. He made four trips to California freighting.

In 1860 he bought Kelton Flour Mills at Provo and also a home where he continued to reside during the remainder of his life.

In 1862, he became a member of the City Council and served twenty years as a councilman.

In 1866, he was called to the bishopric of the Provo Third Ward, in which capacity he served for twentyseven years. In the same year, he married Ann Crosby. His liberality as biship was proverbial in the ward where he paid one half of all its expenses. He became prominent in the financial interests of the county where he held large interests in livestock and in milling. He was a prominent stockholder and owner in the Coop-herd, Coop-stores and factory. He served fifteen years as selectmman of Utah county and was a member of the Brigham Young Academy Board from its organization until 1896.

He died January 11, 1903. He was the father of seventeen children and survived by ten of them.

SETH BENJAMIN TANNER, the second son of John Tanner and Elizabeth Besswick Tanner, was born March 6, 1828, at Bolton, Warren county, New York. He shared with his parents and brothers the experiences of the Church on its move from Kirtland to Utah.

Seth was a modest man but he was always thoughtful of others and during his travels and life long experiences when he was associated with others in travel, he was generally set apart as a hunter and fisher and to provide meat for the company. During his lifetime he did much exploring and traveling, especially through northern Arizona. He settled at one time at Tuba which later became the United States Navajo reservation. JOSEPH SMITH TANNER, son of John and Elizabeth Besswick Tanner, was also born at Bolton, New York. He was the fourteenth son in his father's family of twenty-one children, and was the first born after his father joined the Church. The story of his life is the same as that of his father and brothers. In the distressing experiences which he underwent from Kirtland to Far West and Nauvoo, like others of his family, his home for many years of his life was in a wagon box. He was constantly thrown into new situations and compelled to invent new means of getting out of each of them. His father had been put in the responsible position of caring for the livestock of the Church and his sons as a natural consequence all became stockmen, in the handling of which they developed unusual skill.

Though the diet was meager, consisting of whole corn and milk, Joseph developed an unusually powerful physical frame. He scarcely knew his own strength and could perform the work of two or three ordinary men.

He traveled across the plains under the direction of Amasa M. Lyman, who had married his sister, Maria Louisa. He reached Salt Lake City about the 16th day of December, 1848, and settled with his father at Big Cottonwood. Joseph went to San Bernardino with Apostle Lyman, which was in 1851. He returned to Utah in 1858 when Johnston's Army was approaching Utah. All the people were awaiting breathlessly the arrival of Col. Thomas L. Kane, the special envoy of President Buchanan, to investigate the Mormon situation. To get Col. Kane to Salt Lake in those days and travel over the desert was not only dangerous, but a great hardship, and Joseph Tanner was selected for the important work.

In 1868, he was called to the Muddy Mission. He was ordained in 1857 an elder in the Church by Amasa Lyman. In 1871, he was ordained a high priest by President Brigham Young and later was set apart as bishop of Payson. Later Santaquin, Spring Lake, Salem and Benjamin were put under his direction. He was a member of the City Council of Payson for four years and an equal length of time he was also mayor. He was a member of the first board of directors of the Provo Woolen Mills, as he had become an extensive sheep man. His public labors extended to merchandising. He was president of the Payson Cooperative Institution, a position which he held for fifteen years.

Joseph Tanner's home was the public stopping place for thousands who were traveling in those days from north to south over the territory.

He died January 28, 1910, the father of thirty-one children and the busband of three wives.

DAVID DAN TANNER was the youngest son of John and Elizabeth Besswick Tanner. He was born February 8, 1838, in Kirtland, Ohio. After going through the experiences common to his father's family, he left for Utah in 1848. He drove cows across the plains barefooted. In 1851, his father having died the year before, he went with his mother to California. He returned to Utah in 1857, and for many years thereafter resided in Payson, Utah.

January 10, 1861, he married Rebecca Estella Moore and September 14, 1870, he married Lithie Taylor.

He was one of the minute men who served all through the Black Hawk War.

In the summer of 1879, he and his family moved to Indianola where for a number of years he was bishop's counselor. Here he was engaged in work among the Indians.

There were born to him nineteen children, fourteen by his first wife and five by his second wife. Five of his children died prior to his death. In 1905 he moved with his family back to Payson on account of his wife's ill health. Later in his decling years, he moved to Provo where, in October, 1918, he died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Fotland. With other members of his family he was laid away in the Payson cemetery.

WILLIAM SMITH TANNER

WILLIAM SMITH TANNER was the grandson of John Tanner and the son of John Joshua Tanner and Rebecca Smith Tanner. He was born at New Liberty, Adams county, Illinois, March 28, 1839. He became identified with all of the movements of his grandfather and crossed the plains when he was twelve years of age. They settled at South Cottenwood, Salt Lake county, but later went to Payson and joined the Tanner family there that was under the direction and guidance of Elizabeth Besswick Tanner. Smith as he was popularly called, was a guard at the time of the Johnston Army movement. For years he was a freighter and engaged in mercantile life between Salt Lake City and California. Smith saw much of the dangers and troubles that arose between the travelers and Indians. He was taught to evade Indian ingenuity and to make friends with the red men. From his life we read one of these touching incidents.

During his travels he came upon a band of Indians who, in their starvation, were about to kill a three year old girl. Smith bought the child and cared for her until she was eighteen years of age when she married a white man.

He became prominent in the Black Hawk war and received the rank of lieutenant. His splendid judgment of livestock enabled him to accumulate in their trade a considerable sum of money.

Before his death he was president of the Payson Savings Bank and Payson Cooperative store, both of which were in a large measure due to his initiative. He was six years in the City Council. The accumulation of property and the establishment of big business en'erprises seemed easy to him. He was a very quiet man. It was said that he would go a whole day and not utter a solitary word. He was therefore surprised when he was called on a mission to Great Britain. Preaching was not his forte and nobdy will ever know how much he suffered in every effort he made to address the people in public. His inability to preach seemed to have touched his conscience and he was determined to make good in other ways what he lacked in speaking. He therefore began a system by which he emigrated to Utah a large number of families and in this way devoted thousands of dollars of his property. His wives were Clarissa Jane Moore, daughter of Harvey Theron, and Susan Burgess. He was the father of fourteen children.

She is the daughter of Rachel Winter Smith and Nathan Tanner, pioneers of 1848. Her parents were of New York descent. Her marriage took place December 18, 1868; of this marriage there are three sons and two daughters. For more than forty years, she has been occupied in religious and political activities, and as a compliment to her maternal instincts and executive ability, she has served for more than 25 years as a director of the Orphan's Home Board. She is also Vice President of the Sarah Daft Home. Mrs. Richards represented the Women of Utah at Washington, D. C., when Utah was striving for statehood. Mrs. Richards also represented Utah in a number of our National Fairs, and was president of the Board of Lady Managers of the Word's Fair at Chicago, in 1893. She addressed the Women's Branch of Parliament of Religions on the subject of Women of Mormondom, and received from the presidency of the Church at the time a special call to missionary work among the women of the nation. Mrs. Richards prepared and lead the victorious campaign for equal suffrage in the Constitutional Convention of Utah in 1896; she was also a delegate and speaker in the International Women's Council in Berlin in 1904; and was a delegate and speaker of the Federal Amend ment for Women's Suffrage; she represented Utah in the International Convention of Charities and Corrections held in Toronto, Canada, in 1914. She was a charter member of the General Board of National Relief Societies and served on that Board for nearly thirty vears. For ten years, she was Trustee of the Utah Agricultural College and for an equal length of time, a director of Salt Lake City Free Library. For twenty years she was President of the State Suffrage Council. She was President of the delegation that attended the League of Women Voters, held in St. Louis. She organized the league of women voters in Utah. Mrs. Richards has represented the women of Utah in the political discussions of Woman's Franchise in the various states. JOHN WILLIAM TANNER, son of Nathan and Rachael Tanner, was born November 16th, 1842, at Dubuque, Iowa. He was an outstanding representative of the early pioneers of Utah. In the early troublous days with the Indians, he was one of the leaders who, with others, helped to quell the fghting redman. In his early manhood he was actively employed in the migration of the Saints from the Missouri River to the Valleys. He was among the first to develop the lumber industry of the mountains. He built roads and hauled ore down Little Cottonwood canyon. Later in life he moved to Cokeville, Wyoming, where he carried on pioneer work for which he was eminently fitted in his leadership of men and the versatility of employments which he possessed. In cokeville he was justice of the peace and sheriff of the county in which that city is located. He was a man of stalwart frame and great activity and well represented in his children who reflected so many qualities of their father.
